CLIENT PORTFOLIO

Nicki has equipped me with a framework to apply to management that not only sets the team up for success but recognises the individual dynamics and strengths of each person — using a human and empathetic approach. Now when confronted with a challenge or change, I feel confident, empowered, and equipped with the tools I need to work through it.

Nicki has been an exceptional trainer, and I always feel like the session is too short and there is so much more to discuss. I really can't thank Nicki enough for this training and I hope others find it as (I hope this doesn't sound too OTT, but...) life changing. Yes, for me but more importantly for those who work in my team and other departments.

Existing managers within the team who had previously been unhappy and at times uncooperative have shown a change in pace and the ability and confidence to take initiative and make decisions effectively. This has resulted in my department delivering better solutions, quicker, and contributing much more to the business than ever before.
